Thermal conduction is the transfer of heat (internal energy) by microscopic collisions of particles and movement of electrons within a body. The microscopically colliding objects, that include molecules, atoms, and electrons, transfer disorganized microscopic kinetic and potential energy, jointly known as internal energy.

A centripetal force (from Latin centrum, "center" and petere, "to seek") is a force that makes a body follow a curved path. Its direction is always orthogonal to the motion of the body and towards the fixed point of the instantaneous center of curvature of the path. Isaac Newton described it as "a force by which bodies are drawn or impelled, or in any way tend, towards a point as to a centre".

ABSTRACT. Nanocomposites, a high performance material exhibit unusual property combinations and unique design possibilities. With an estimated annual growth rate of about 25% and fastest demand to be in engineering plastics and elastomers, their potential is so striking that they are useful in several areas ranging from packaging to biomedical applications.

This review looks at publications from 2008-2015 mostly from ScienceDirect with very few exemptions. An advanced search filtering for Smart Grid technologies in the Abstract, Title, Keywords fields from 2008-Present renders 502 results, 431 of which are journal articles, 70 are books and one is a Reference Work.

The images in the column on the left are from observatories, whilst those on the right are from the Hubble Telescope. Apart from all the images being very similar (or identical), they are often composites of 3 or more pictures each captured through a separate light filter and then processed further. On top of that, since NASA fake stars and obviously entire images of machines ...

There are three very serious problems with the orbiting mechanism of the space machines said to whiz around the Earth. These need to be incorporated within our reality framework to help us determine what is actually real and what is marketing.
