This quarter, two very different books (Gifts of the Crow and Natureâ€™s Compass) explore the less visible aspects of birds, although one is also a visual delight. Gifts of the Crow records the further explorations of the award-winning team of John Marzluff and Tony Angell, and takes us deeper into what Bernd Heinrich called "the mind of the ...

Corvids like to play, give gifts, recognize death, murder other birds, and of course steal. A crow researcher and an artist -- there are a LOT of original drawings in the book, which argues against the Kindle edition -- explain a lot of these behaviors with recourse to brain physiology, co-evolution, and evolutionary psychology.
